Robert Reagan called the meeting to order at 7:00 P.M. with the Pledge of Allegiance.

Appointments: Joint Meeting of Board of Selectmen and the Canaan Planning Board Regarding Building Permits on Class VI Roads/Discontinued Roads

Jay Waldner explained that he has met with the Planning Board and there was general discussion and consensus that a policy should be drafted in order to address concerns with RSA 674.41 and to maintain a level of consistency regarding building permits and overall town development. Planning Board Chairman, Andy Musz summarized that the current procedures are difficult to enforce since there are often building requests that do not fit the standards. For example, two properties can share a right of way but the addition of a third house requires the right of way to be upgraded to a road, which conflicts with subdivision requirements.

Andy Musz explained that the waiver that the Board of Selectmen allows residents to sign in order to limit town liability complicates the standardization and consistency that the Planning Board is trying to achieve. He stressed the importance of being aware of what development is occurring on a Class VI road or private way. He referred to his point of the subdivision regulation that requires upgrading of a road if a third home is added. There was general discussion that the Board of Selectmen has offered these waivers in the past in order to protect emergency personnel from traveling on roads and driveways that do not meet Class 5 standards after meeting the requirements of 674:41. Mr. Musz noted that the master plan does not specifically address Class VI or discontinued roads. It was suggested that perhaps building permits should not be granted on roads that are built or maintained at less than Class 5 standards.

Discussion ensued that that supports a comprehensive plan to direct the level and type of development that will benefit the town. There was general note that the master plan addresses the density of business and commercial areas but does not address the lesser dense or rural areas, which is where the Class 6 roads and discontinued roads exist.

Andy Musz commented that he spoke with the Registry Office and that residents should provide the map number and lot number whenever requesting a building permit and that these numbers could be cross referenced whenever there is a change with the title.

Jay Waldner suggested that there is a public benefit and a right for residents to use Class 6 roads since some public and private lands can only be accessed by Class 6 roads. He said the state statue provides protection from liability on Class 6 roads but that the town is also responsible for providing school transportation for special education needs to children. Jay Waldner noted that the Town of Plainfield approved an ordinance in 1987 that no building permits would be granted to properties on Class 6 roads but that ample notice was provided to residents before the ordinance was implemented. Jay Waldner added that the ordinance has not been challenged. Jay Waldner did disagree with Andy Musz that the Master Plan did not consider this issue and he read an excerpt from the Town's 2006 Master Plan, Section VI, Communities Facilities and Services:

“Consider access for fire engines and emergency vehicles as a major element in evaluating the location and design of proposed subdivisions and developments. Avoid development of long, dead end streets, driveways, or rights of ways to remote sites. Study and establish guidelines regarding building permits on non town maintained roads. Provide two potential means of access for fire trucks and other emergency vehicles whenever possible.”

“Discourage development in outlying areas to minimize municipal service costs, minimize the response time for emergency vehicles, and create a more desirable land use pattern.”

He said that this is a directive to think about this type of development.

Chuck Townsend of the Planning Board spoke about the distinction between a Class VI road and a discontinued or private road. He said twenty-eight Class 6 roads existed in Canaan between 1925 and 1960. In 1962 these Class 6 roads were reclassified to discontinued roads, which could mean that no Class 6 roads exist in the Town of Canaan today.

Andy Musz responded that this 1962 decision could easily be challenged if proper advertisement or notice was not provided to the residents before implementation.

John Bergeron cautioned that there are half dozen roads that are classified as a Class VI road. Some may have probably lost their Class 5 status since the roads have not been maintained by the Town of Canaan for five or more years.

There was general discussion that the Town Office should have an inventory of the public roads and that the State of NH has standardized requirements for classifying roads. Private roads could be considered dependent on reasonable access, which would depend on factors such as the nature of the road surface, slope, width, length, and condition.

Joseph Frazier commented that he recently attended a course entitled Knowing the Territory, which provided him with some useful printed resources.

Jay Waldner summarized that the options available are to follow the state statutes or to draft a town policy.

There was general review of a memo written by Joseph Butterfield. There was general discussion whether a procedure exists for determining Class 6 roads.

PLANNING BOARD-MOTION by Andy Musz and seconded by Joseph Frazier to form a committee to study and establish guidelines regarding building permits on non-town maintained roads and driveways.

VOTE: Unanimous

Phil Salvail questioned why residents are asked to sign a waiver if the Town of Canaan is going to mandate how private roads and driveways are built and maintained. Phil Salvail commented that residents need to take the responsibility and know that the town is not responsible for private roads and driveways that are not accessible to emergency services.

There was general review of a spreadsheet that John Bergeron drafted of what other towns use for policy regarding Class 6 roads.

There was general consensus that the committee will draft and recommend an ordinance to the Board of Selectmen for approval.

Linda Jones expressed concern whether a blanket policy will be implemented that will prevent her family from expanding their buildings and business on May Street in the future. Linda Jones explained that not all Class 6 roads are remote sites and that two businesses exist on her Class 6 road. Linda Jones suggested that each building request should be reviewed regarding the appropriateness of the building request. Linda Jones encouraged committee members to articulate what the exact concern is regarding Class 6 roads, whether it be safety, municipal liability, or to control development, before setting a blanket policy.

There was general discussion and consensus that a Public Hearing will be required before a recommendation from the committee can be considered for approval.

Linda Jones asked what the procedure is to upgrade a Class 6 road to a Class 5 road. A warrant article or a petitioned warrant article is required or the Board of Selectmen can approve an upgrade with a layout.
